

WHITE BULL, RIBCHESTER

The White Bull is located in the centre of the historic village of Ribchester a former Roman settlement on the original Watling Street now home to a busy community and lots of attractions for visitors to the beautiful Ribble Valley with its fantastic scenery, great walks and lots of things to do.

Situated opposite the original weavers cottages and walking distance from the numerous Roman attractions, the historic church, the banks of the River Ribble and Ribble Way Walk. The Roman Bath House is directly over the wall in our lovely garden area. The White Bull has recently reopened following a major refurbishment focussed on recovering all the original features to present a traditional British village pub serving its community and visitors with quality fresh food menus and an extensive range of drinks. There are also 3 beautifully appointed ensuite double bedrooms with a private entrance.

- 1. Leaving the White Bull entrance, bear right along Water Street and take the first right onto Greenside. Then immediately right to enter the remains of the old Roman Baths. Follow the path down to the left and then bear right, along the Ribble riverbank. Follow this path until you rejoin the road on your right, continuing along the river until you stand just in front of Ribchester Roman Museum.
- 2. Here the road forks to the left, which is our route, however if you take a quick detour to the right, you can visit the beautiful Church of St Wilfred and the remains of the old Roman Grain Store.
- 3. Returning to the left fork, continue along this lane and follow it right through the next farmstead, all the way along the lane to a property called the old Boathouse.
- 4. Here the track ends and the path continues through a kissing gate and through the fields along the riverbank. Continue until you reach a stile ahead of the path rising up the hill.
- 5. Walk up this hill where the views beyond of the river can be magnificent on a clear day and then bear slightly right from the sunken road across this field to reach the stile on the far side. Continue into the next field, again bearing right.
- 6. After the stile proceed sharp right, to reach a stone bench, where you may wish to pause a while and enjoy the view. Follow the path through the next two kissing gates and continue straight on.
- 7. Through the next two kissing gates straight on, follow the Bridleway arrows until you descend down towards Parsonage Farm to join the lane.
- 8. Follow the lane to the left, all the way back to the village passing the playing fields and Potters Barn before you return to the village square and the White Bull.
